2026 FUSF CUSTOMER CERTIFICATION

Supplier: Ninety Nine Technologies LLC (TalkLoop). This certification documents the Customer's Federal Universal Service Fund (FUSF) status for telecom/VoIP services purchased from Supplier. This form does not itself create an exemption; applicable FCC/USAC rules and the parties' service agreement govern.

2 CUSTOMER SERVICE AND USF CLASSIFICATION

Check the applicable status. A de minimis filing status is not, by itself, an exemption from FUSF passthrough charges assessed by Supplier. A claimed resale exemption requires the underlying conditions to be met and documentation to be available.

- ☐ A. Direct USF contributor: customer purchases for resale, reports assessable end-user revenues, and contributes directly to the federal USF.
- ☐ B. Qualifying reseller: customer purchases for resale and reasonably expects a downstream entity to report and contribute on assessable end-user revenue, with supporting documentation.
- ☐ C. Non-assessable services only: services covered by this certification are demonstrably outside the assessable federal USF base.
- ☐ D. Not exempt: customer is not claiming an exemption from applicable FUSF passthrough charges.
- ☐ E. De minimis: customer does not contribute directly because its calculated federal USF obligation is de minimis. This selection does not independently authorize a surcharge waiver.

4 REPRESENTATIONS AND UPDATES

The Customer represents that its information and selected classification are accurate, that the signer has authority to certify on behalf of the Customer, and that the Customer will retain supporting records as required by applicable law.

The Customer will notify Supplier in writing within 30 calendar days after becoming aware of any change affecting this certification, and will provide updated information or supporting evidence upon reasonable request.

Supplier may apply or adjust FUSF charges when required by law or when the claimed exemption is unsupported or invalid. Any retrospective adjustments and dispute procedures remain subject to applicable law and the parties' agreement.

This form is a business certification, not legal or tax advice. Customer should consult its regulatory or tax adviser before claiming an exemption.
